GENEALOGICAL AND HISTORICAL DIRECTORY

PATERNAL DESCENDENTS OF THE DIEHL FAMILIES BEGINNING WITH JOHN ADAM DIEHL AND WIFE CATHERINE

1787 - 1950

EVA KATHERINE DIEHL A.B.

Miss Eva Katherine Diehl of Upper Montclair, New Jersey, did the research, collecting and arrangement of the manuscript for this booklet, completing the contract with the publisher on October 21st, 1950. However, on October 23rd, 1950, while on a several month's visit in York, Pennsylvania, the Author died unexpectedly.

At the request of the deceased's sister Mrs. Edward Odell, the proof-reading, together with the map drawing and the final distribution of the genealogy was completed by Aunts Miss Lydia L. Diehl and Mrs. Minerva Diehl Shirey; Cousins Mr. and Mrs. John C. Crippen and Jeannette Shirey all of York, Pa.

Some years ago, a cousin, Mr. Jairus Alvin Dise, and I went to the courthouse at York, Pennsylvania and looked up a Will to learn what we could about our great grandfather. Then, through the kindness of a very dear aunt I gathered a number of facts concerning my father's side of the family.

In the summer of 1946 I came to York with the data and started to work in the Historical Society of York County. I met Mr. Henry James Young and asked him how I should arrange the data that I had. He was the Director of the Society and told me about the Pedigree Charts and Family Group Charts published by the Deseret Book Company, Salt Lake City, Utah. It was the third of August and by the first of November many of the facts were collected and a great part of the story written.

It has been exciting to learn how these ancestors of mine came to this country from the "Rhine Provinces" at the invitation of William Penn, the Palatines, to help him found a state in which religious and civil liberty would prevail. ("Pa. German Pioneers" by Ralph Strassburger and Wm. John Hinke - Summary of the Introduction) Here they settled to work out the principles of liberty, justice and pursuit of happiness for the children of the future generations. The natural barriers were great with the thick forests and mountainous land, no roads, no telephones and most of the travel was on horseback. Within fifty years, roads were established, mills built, farm land cultivated and cities and towns and villages sprung up in the area of Lancaster, Berks and York Counties.

A Genealogy is, I feel, very worthwhile. Let me quote from the "Ancestry of Gottfried Frey and Posterity", pp. 16, 17. "Few considered the labor spent in the undertaking wasted.... That man must in truth be all for self who gives no thought to his ancestry; who never stops to think what manner of men were those who are responsible for his appearance in this world, who never wonders from where he has received this tendency or that trait in his character. Who reading the history of his country, never asks whether any of his forebearers played the part of men in the upholding of the country, in the strife with the wilderness, and the savage. That we may have some ancestors of whom the less said the better, is not to be denied but there is also the glorious compensation, that some were men to be proud of, men whose part in the grand drama being played was not a mean one, men who endured toil and privation, and peril that we might live in safety, with none to molest or make us afraid. And the mothers of the poor, those German dames, who were true helpmates to their husbands, whose relaxation from household duties consisted of work in the field, who spun and wove, washed and cooked, sewed and knit from early morn till late at night, yet with a family to bear and rear, not one or two but a dozen or more healthy sons and daughters to rise up in after years to call them blessed - who would begrudge the little effort required to preserved their names and features for the coming generations to know and love."

Information had to be gathered from past and present. The list of Sources, p. is the authority for the facts given in the Genealogy Court records as wills, were deeds and releases wherein is mentioned members of the family were of real assistance and of primary importance. Newspaper notices and obituary notices also give information and facts concerning deceased relatives. Family Bibles were consulted and data obtained.

Letters with data from individual families were sent to Rev. William K. Diehl in 1911 and 1912 now in the possession of Miss Lydia Louise Diehl.

Letters were written and Family Group Charts filled out in 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949 by members of families and sent to the writer for the Genealogy File. This forms a great portion of the factual material of the Genealogy. A number of visits were made. Everyone has cooperated willingly and I hope we are going to have the best Genealogy that can be brought together.

To Miss Lydia Diehl, my aunt, I am most grateful for telling me about the great grandparents and their children and many other facts of those early days, interesting me thereby to make the study. Rev. Melville Schmoyer of Allentown submitted data of his wife's ancestors, Mary Magdalena Diehl, sister of John Adam; Charles, Jr. is the father and the common ancestor. I am grateful to Rev. Schmoyer for this material.

August 13, 1946, Miss Jeannette Shirey, very kindly offered to take me with her Mother, Mrs. Minerva Diehl Shirey and Miss Lydia Diehl to the Friedensaal Lutheran Cemetery, Seven Valleys, Springfield Twp. There the small reddish brown granite stone of the "great, great, great grandfather Carl Diehl stands inscribed in German, died April, 1800." We know he was born in the Palatinate 1717. His son has a white marble stone inscribed with, "Charles Jr. Diehl", "Born October 14, 1750 D. August 1813". His wife, Christina has a white marble stone with the inscription, "Died 1819".

Then we visited the grandparents' graves at St. Paul's Cemetery, Hametown. (D.41) The great grandparents are buried at Christ Lutheran Cemetery, Shrewsbury where we visited, finding many families of that early period there. Later I went to the Reformed and Lutheran Cemeteries of Glen Rock, Greenmount, and Prospect Hill, York.

I wish to acknowledge with thanks the following for the valuable assistance given me. Henry James Young, Director of the Historical Society, who helped in planning the work and impressed me with the fact that it was a wonderful thing to do. Mrs. Alice Starner for her willingness and graciousness answering my questions and requests for material. Mrs. Cannon, the researcher at that time, who started me out and made the work a pleasure to do. I was impressed with how much I should know when I had finished. At some future day, I hope, a Genealogy may be written of all the families beginning with the pioneer Hans Adam who came August 27, 1739 to the Port of Philadelphia. Perhaps a reunion may bring this about.

The members of all the families of the paternal side for six generations are represented though details are not available for some of the names. It includes nine generations from the revered and honored pioneer who came with his wife and children to this country from the farming land of the lower Rhine, the Palatinate in South East Germany. Because of the political and religious oppression they heard the call of William Penn who invited them to this new land that King Charles II had given him in cancellation of a debt to live in peace and happiness.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF AN INFLUENTIAL SECTION OF YORK COUNTY

We read in "My Pennsylvania Pageant" of County History 1946 and "The Pennsylvania German Pioneers" that William Penn was given 40,000 square miles under a Charter from King Charles II of England in payment of a debt of 16,000 lbs that he had borrowed from his father. It was called Penn's Woods and in 1682 under the famous Elm Tree Wm. Penn signed the Treaty with the Indians. He was made proprietor and governor of the Province, invested with the privilege of creating a political government, English common law was in force. In a letter to Richard Hartshorn, Penn expressed his motive when he wrote, "We lay a foundation for future chances to understanding and liberty as men and Christians that they may not be brought into bondage but by their own consent."

The Eastern part of the Province was laid off into three counties--Chester, Philadelphia, and Bucks. Lancaster was erected in 1729 and York, the fifth county, was erected from Lancaster with an area of 903 sq. m (577,920 acres) by Act of Assembly, Aug. 19, 1749 (ibid V. 70-77) confirmed Aug. 2, 1750 by the Lords Justices in Council.

York is the County seat. It was incorporated as a borough Sept. 24, 1787 and as a city Jan. 11, 1887 (Kain, York City p. 333) 2,647 acres or 4,136 sq. mis. (Yearbook of the Historical Society of York County for year 1939 - York, Pa. 1939.) Continental Congress met here from September 1777-June 1778. Philip Livingston, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, from New York died June 12, 1778 and according to the Gazette and Daily, August 19, 1949 in an article on the Bicentennial of York County, "The entire body of Congress once attended a funeral in York. The service was for Philip Livingston". He is buried in Prospect Hill Cemetery. James Smith also was a signer and a native of York. He is buried in the Cemetery of the First Presbyterian Church on East Market Street. There are many places of Historic interest in and about the City. Its population is 56,712.

The Free Public Library of Pennsylvania had its beginnings in York.

It is in York County that this study of thrifty, skillful, and industrious group of people arises - principally German in origin. The townships cover an area of 173.07 sq. m. or 1088.84 acres. It includes York, Shrewsbury or Strasburg, Codorus and North Codorus, Hopewell, North Hopewell, Springfield Townships. Oxford Township Adams County. See Map p.

The natural resources are good. Many small streams empty into the East branch of the Codorus Creek that rises in the southern part of Shrewsbury Twp. and flows in a northerly direction emptying into the Codorus Creek. The North Central Railroad built in 1837 passes through the township and the Susquehanna Trail, formerly known as the York and Baltimore Pike aid greatly in the development of the resources of the Township and County. Its rolling green country with rich fertile fields of grain and corn and its majestic wooded hills and timber land move one to wonder and admiration.

The dwellings, barns and buildings substantially and conveniently built are kept in good condition and repair.

To understand a people one must know something of their life, customs, schools and churches. The Pennsylvania Dutch have a history all of their own. One can read in any large library books about them. Their language, I am told, is being taught in the schools.

"The Public Schools came by a gradual process", says the County Superintendent, Harvey E. Swartz, in an article on the "Bicentennial of York County," appearing in the Gazette and Daily, Aug. 19, 1949. The early facilities were meagre. The people believed in their churches and private Schools. There were schools for the children as early as 1735 meeting houses with the Quakers. Neatness the Friends considered next to godliness. Jesse Wickersham taught in the Quaker school house West of Newberry Friends Meetin house in 1812. The log schoolhouse was used where the present Christ Lutheran Church of York now stands. These, then the stone and brick schoolhouses came into existence in the rural districts. The log schoolhouse that deals directly with our story is the "The Diehl's Schoolhouse". It stood in the hollow of the Diehl farm not far from the merchandize store. Here the children went to school and on the Sabboth Day and Wednesday night, services were held. One night of the week the younger folk attended a Singing School. Developed their musical talents by using the syllables "Do, Reh, Me", to sing the melodies and learn the various meters of time by keeping a strict rhythm. The round was a popular form, and the chants. Lovely old hymns were sung. It was there they had the Spelling Bees and Community affairs found a place there.

Thaddeus Stevens, a lawyer, was the founder of the Public School System of Pennsylvania in 1836. George Klinefelter was chosen as a delegate for Shrewsbury Twp. to attend a meeting held at York, May 2, 1836. There was opposition at the time to the introduction of uniform text books and the displacement of the Bible as a regular reading book.

The Academy had a very important place in the education of the youth. Shrewsbury had an Academy where the young people went to prepare for teaching. The York Academy was incorporated in Sept. 20, 1787 and the Episcopalian rector Rev. John Campbell boarded the students in the parsonage. The Academy Age was a transition age from the Colonial Society, partially stratified to a more democratic Society. The turning point passed when Thomas Jefferson became president. The 20 years following made a great advance in the democratic spirit. 1929 it was arranged to conduct the Academy in the Y.C.I. building. (Gazette and Daily Aug. 19, 1949.)

The Township of Shrewsbury is among the first west of the Susquehanna, founded under the Act of General Assembly dated November 1739. Originally it included Springfield and Hopewell. Springfield became a township in 1835 and Hopewell, in 1767 according to John Gibson's History of the Townships.pp.

"In 1807 the village of Shrewsbury was opened as a trading center for the farmers V district..not to be sold for any other purpose. The first undertaking was a log school house. Rev. Henry Stecker was in charge of this work in 1819." Today the population is 725.

Borough of Glen Rock has a population today of 1,412. It is a modern town noted for its romantic scenery and its substantial and expensive buildings and for its enterprising and industrious people. All buildings, except a sawmill and a barn have been built since 1837. In 1854 the foundary and machine shop were built by Heathcote, Herbst and Co. A practical machinist was chosen and the plant became known as Glen Rock Manufacturing Company. In the early history of the town Messrs. Mark Radcliffe and George Shaw began the manufacture of rope and twine. There was a sewing factory, a woolen mill and grist mill all furnishing employment for their people.

Seitzland, one mile south of Glen Rock, is a village in the vallies of high hills of slate and rock. Its people in the eighties and nineties were trades people and followed agriculture. The farmers brought their produce of potatoes, vegetables, poultry eggs and butter to the Merchandise Store of Samuel K. Diehl and Brother, later Andrew K. Diehl and Son. (At present owned by L. F. McCullough) Here they were packed and shipped to Baltimore and sold in the markets. Oranges, pineapples, sugar, bananas and molasses etc. were brought back to the farmers. Two large tanneries were managed by E. K. Bollinger Company and an extensive fertilizing factory owned by Noah Markel and at present, William H. Koller. (There was a Black Smith Shop and a Copper Shop by the Hotel)

The Northern Central Pennsylvania Railroad passes through the town and carried the freight to and from York and Baltimore, Md. The one-room gray stone schoolhouse stood on the hill and welcomed the boys and girls from near and far. There I learned to read, write and do my first problems in arithmetic. I saw the American troops go South on the trains on their way to Cuba to end the Spanish War in 1898 under the Command of Theodore Roosevelt.

Hametown is a village along the Susquehanna Trail, 2 miles north of Shrewsbury, formerly the York and Baltimore Pike. The Merchandise Store now owned by Claude Saubel, the son-in-law of the former owner, Adam T. Diehl, is the center of the village life. Mr. Diehl had received his business training in New Jersey and everyone looked up to him as an authority to answer their problems. He bought the store from Mr. J. S. Seitz in 1875 who purchased it from Mr. Ephraim Shirey in 1850.

The German Reformed Church at Fissel's a mile and a half S.W. of Glen Rock was organized in 1783 and is the oldest reformed church in this section of the county. It was known as Jerusalem. Its early history cannot be obtained. The first building was a small log building weather boarded and in 1851 they made a brick structure. Rev. John C. Rienecke, Rev. Daniel Gring, Rev. A. F. Driesbach. This church with the Glen Rock Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church built in 1895 and St. Peter's of Springfield Twp. constitute a charge under the pastor Guernsey Weber.

The Zion Lutheran Church of Glen Rock was organized in 1859 when Rev. A. Berg, then pastor of Shrewsbury charge began to hold regular services in Sheffer's Hall. In 1860-61 a church was erected and Rev. T. Kempfer was called to serve it. J. C. Koller served from 1861 to 1880. Dr. J. B. Wolf took the pastorate. There were two hundred members and a large interesting sabbath school.

"The York County Charge", consisted of 7 churches. (Stelzes, Fissel's, Shusters, Sadler's, Stabley's, Blymeyer's, and Frey's). Rev. Stecker resigned in 1831. Then the work was redistricted and the new charge was called the Shrewsbury District with the parsonage in Shrewsbury. Rev. John Kempfer (the first graduate of Gettysburg Seminary) became pastor and served until 1843. Rev. A. Berg followed as pastor. Only two sons entered the ministry from Shrewsbury Church. Rev. George W. Frederick in 1860 (D) and Lloyd M. Keller in 1922. Hametown Lutheran sent John Nicholas, W. K. Diehl, A. S. Hain and Clyde Brillhart (D.). (History of the West Pa. Synod by Stump and Andstadt, Strasburg p. 568.) The German Reformed Church from 1850-1880 was under the pastorate of Rev. Daniel Gring who came from Paradise, North Cumberland County where he preached for 18 years. He was the grandfather of the writer. He labored long and faithfully for his people. He loved them and gave them of his best talents and strength. Two of his <sup>sons</sup> became ministers, one, William Augustus became a home missionary and Ambrose Daniel, the foreign missionary to Japan, under the Reformed and Episcopalian Churches. Since that time the Reformed and Lutheran have had their own churches.

St. Paul's, Hametown, was organized in 1872. The charter members were from the Shrewsbury Church. The bricks used to build the structure were made on the farm of Mr. Isaac Diehl. I have been told that 1,000 bricks were made before breakfast. Rev. J. C. Koller was followed by Dr. J. B. Wolf in 1880.

A short distance to the East of the Merchandise Store on the Trail are two farms, the Homestead, and the farm of Mr. Isaac Diehl to the north and there are several to the Southeast. The Homestead includes the land purchased by Charles Diehl "with monies paid to the late Proprietaries" so says the document of receipt issued by the Supreme Executive Council of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on April 16, 1790. He was granted a Tract of Land called "Diehl's Chance" situated in Shrewsbury Township, York County. 118.40 acres. This was Penn's Woods. According to a Deed, June 8, 1812 (2 W 514) Charles Diehl of Shrewsbury Twp. yeoman: to Adam his son for lbs 900 for (a) 255.60 Acres (b) 118.40 Acres called Diehl's Chance (c) 5 Acres (d) 6 Acres; (a) patented to the grantor to 41789, (b) patented to grantor on April 14, 1790, (c) bought from John Erhart (2) W 275), (d) part of 2K303. The house now standing was built about 1868 or 1869. The little frame house standing near it, is on the foundation of the old house where John Adam, our ancestor was born on February 26, 1787, baptized March 18, 1787 according to the records of the Friedensall Church (D). He grew up there and on a trip to Center County met his bride to be, Catharine Schaeffer. He said he would return for her and that he did the following year. He is the great grandson of the pioneer Hans Adam Diehl, (d.) who crossed the ocean with his wife Mary Catherine and children to find his fortune in this new American in the

in the summer of 1739.

"Henry Louck sold 300 acres to Adam Diehl on Oct. 13, 1739. Adam devised 130 acres to his son Peter! This must be in York Twp. with mills and houses. See Record of Deed in Genealogical Report Vol IX "Evidences of the Diehl Families".

This branch of the Diehl Families, John Adam, Sr., covers six generations. Any genealogical line can be traced from this Directory by using the following method, Child to Family Group or Son to Father.

To trace the lineage a number is given each person and a number follows each person, the family or parents number. For example:

- (1.) Ada Elizabeth Diehl. 86. Shrewsbury Township, York Co. 1 is her number that tells where she lives and all about her. 86 is the family or parents' number. Rutherford Diehl is her father, and Kenneth is her brother. Thus the line can be traced back to Hans Adam the Pioneer.

He came to York in 1891 and was proprietor of the Diehl Candy Company. It became a leading Candy Shop of York. As representative of the six generation of the family in York County. This fact indicates that the name had been linked with the history of this section of the Keystone State even the pioneer era. (Directory 39, 19.) The grandfather was of German extraction and a successful and highly honored farmer of Shrewsbury Twp. where he passed his entire life. (Directory 50) Alexander Diehl followed in his footsteps in a business way. (History of York Co, Pa. Vol. 2. Part 3. By Geo. Prowell 1886.) He was a very successful farmer, a man of marked ability of untiring energy and highly respected by the people of his native township. These traits and qualities are seen in his posterity. His son, Adam, worked for his father for 6 years after he had learned the blacksmith trade and the repairing of farming implements - hames, collars, or yokes for the farming horses. At his father's death his son Adam continued as farmer on the ancestral homestead. (Dir.2) Lutheran. Republican.

Henry and Eve Dise. B. 1848 taught school in York. Graduate from Gettysburg, Pa., College and Lutheran Seminary. As a Lutheran minister he served under the Home Mission Board and last church was at Mohrsville, Pa., where he died. He wrote many hymns, words, real appreciation of music. Having determined to earn sufficient money from teaching school, he enrolled at the Dana School of Music, Warren, Ohio. He studied and taught there one summer and studied with Mr. Liebling, Chicago, Illinois. He then opened a studio in Pittsburgh in a private home. He studied for two years in Vienna with Mr. Leschtisky whom he greatly admired. Some years later he returned to study with him for part of a year. He toured the country side on bicycle. Then he left for Paris where he met Claude Debussy, Ravel and Friml, young successful composers of that period. On his return from his first visit abroad he opened a studio in the Stevenson Building, East Liberty, Pittsburgh, Penna. He preferred private teaching to institutional teaching. He considered that the pupil's need was more adequately met in private study. Many of his pupils went abroad. Mr. Dise was single, had many friends. He was a beautiful musician and a man of sterling character, thoughtful and of cheerful and kindly disposition. He gave a collection of music books and records to the Martin Library, York, Pa. He was fond of nature, beautiful pictures and antiques. Lutheran. Rep. Paul Percy - B. May 22, 1876, York, Pa. D. April 13, 1877. Buried at St. Paul's Lutheran Cemetery, Hametown, S. Twp. Pa.

NOTES OF INTEREST

SHIP LISTS:

Hans Adam Deihl (aged 52) Johann Danl. Deihl (26) and Carl Diehl (22) were among the male passengers, aged 16 and upwards, who sailed from Rotterdam on the Ship Samuel, Hugh Percy, Master, in the spring or summer of 1739; they landed at Philadelphia, and took the required oath of allegiance to George II on August 27, 1739. (Hinke, W.J. Pennsylvania German Pioneers. I 256, 259, 261. p. 135.)

From "Ehrhart Report" X of the Historical Society of York County. File 1921 p. 27, Wills Book T. 259. Probated October 2, 1849. William Ehrhart married Magdalina, (Dir. 50, 62) daughter of Adam Diehl, Sr. of Shrewsbury Twp.

From "Ehrhart Report" X p. 471. Orphan Court Dockets. August 26, 1851. Magdalina Ehrhart, widow of William Ehrhart, late of Hopewell Twp. states that said husband left issue, seven children, 3 of whom - William, Catharine and Adam are minors under 14 and prays that the court appoint Adam Diehl of Shrewsbury Twp. their guardian. Court appoints her their mother.

From the same Report the Ship List States "Johan Henrich E. Erhard, 23, came on board Samuel, Aug. 27, 1739.

Newspaper Record - October 5, 1811. Jacob Cramer of Shrewsbury Twp. married by the Rev. Mr. Herbst, Miss Polly Diehl of the same. (York Recorder October 26, 1811.) (D. 19, 67) Genealogical Report IX 128.

Democratic Press - December 1, 1846. On November 26, 1846 Adam Diehl married by Rev. Mr. Lochman, Miss Anna (Nancy) Tyson both of York County. (D. 2) Genealogical Report IX, p. 127.

OLD RELICS

There remain a few of the antiques of bygone days. At the homestead one can see the large comfortable and inviting rocking chair that is attractively decorated. In the kitchen are several long benches where the children sat when they ate their evening meal, breakfast, and dinner. Outside, as you approach the house, there stood beautiful, tall and large branchy walnut trees. When Adam, the son of Adam, Sr., died these were sold and were cut down to be made into beautiful walnut furniture.

There are papers or receipts of the early pioneers for the survey of lands and a certificate of the purchase of land from the Proprietaries of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. These are in the care of the present descendant, Clement Diehl, who is a farmer and cultivates the land. He has pictures of the old farm buildings. Also pictures of aunts, uncles, and cousins can be seen at the home of Miss Lydia Diehl who lives with her sister, Mrs. Minerva Diehl Shirey of York. Mr. Clement Diehl has the certificate that says "On September 24, 1763 Charles Diehl was admitted to be His Majesty's natural born subject of the Kingdom of Great Britian. According to an Act made in the First Year of the Reign of King George II". (Excerpt)

A beautiful walnut corner cupboard is in the care of one of the descendants, Mr. Chester Leroy Brillhart, a grandson of Adam Diehl.

Miss Lydia Diehl has the certificates of birth and baptism of her father, Isaac and her mother, Rosina Klinefelter Diehl. They are most interesting, and written in German. She has a docket of letters sent her brother, Rev. William Diehl in 1911 and 1912 giving data and information on the Diehl families. These attract one because they were written by the earlier generation.

Adam Diehl had a grandfather's clock, Elisha Kirk No. 62, 1775. It is in the home of Mrs. Grace Zimmerman, daughter of Alexander Diehl of York, Penna.
